ABOUT

Thanks to a startup experience managing all the Communication activities, I helped develop a brand's identity from early stages to maturity in the IoT industry.

I also had the chance to work alongside Recruiting, R&D, and Sales teams to collaborate on multiple projects, which is where my open mindset and team spirit came into play.

My curiosity and ambition contributed to a proactive transition into Web Development where I challenged myself to learn new languages and gain new technical skills. At Altran I was able to have an enriching experience working with talented Developers and Project Managers for top industrial client applications.
